"One Hundred Famous Views of Edo:
Asakusa Rice Fields and Torinomachi Festival", 1857

TAKAHASHI Shotai, "White Cat", 1926

All images courtesy of the Hirano Museum of Art

Cats and humans have shared a close relationship since ancient times. With the cooperation of the Hirano Museum of Art, this exhibition focuses on ukiyo-e prints featuring cats, beloved subjects of renowned artists such as UTAGAWA Hiroshige and UTAGAWA Kunisoshi. In ukiyo-e, cats appear in beauty prints, are anthropomorphized as actors or story characters, and sometimes portrayed in frightening forms, showing a wide range of expressions as familiar and endearing beings. We invite you to enjoy the brave and charming cats depicted in ukiyo-e prints.
